To Whom It May Concern:

Bade Roofing Co., Inc. is a commercial and industrial roofing contractor in the St. Louis and surrounding areas. We have been doing business in this capacity for over 50 years. In this market we have had the opportunity to work with many consulting as well as architectural firms, and, from our experience, there is only one firm that we would recommend. That firm is Foresight Services, Inc.

A roof on any building is an investment, one that protects your most valuable asset, your building. Any roofing project should start with a strong, professional consultant that is truly concerned with providing their customers with long term, quality protection for their roofs using proven systems. We feel that Foresight Services, Inc. provides their customers with this quality service.

Sincerely,
